LORD LYTTON KEEPS SILENT ON FORECAST

Warns of Dangers
In Manchuria.
SERIOUS SITUATION.

Bombay, To-day.
"Intelligent anticipation" was how Lord Lytton, Head of the Lytton Commission summed up the forecasts of his report on his arrival here, en route to Europe. Apart from that he refused to make any comment, but said that he hoped the report would be acceptable and from a basis of permanent settlement. He described the condition of Manchuria as most serious, and said that it was the most difficult place, since the Chinese population of 13,000,000 were under the control of 200,000 Japanese. He added that it was, of course, open to Japan, to take the country by force, which would mean no peace for the rest of the world. — Reuter.

DR. JOAN MACDONALD MARRIED TO-DAY.

Prime Minister Back
For Ceremony.

London, To-day.
Miss Joan MacDonald, daughter of the Prime Minister, was married to Dr. Allister Mackinnon, young Scottish surgeon, to-day.

The Prime Minister, who hurried back to Chequers for the wedding, paid a visit to London yesterday and had an interview with the Foreign Secretary Sir John Simon, who left to-day for Geneva to attend the meeting of the Bureau of the Disarmament Conference on Wednesday.

Premier MacDonald and his elder daughter, Isabel, both attended the church ceremony and the subsequent reception at Chequers.—British Wireless Service.

BRITISH NOTE ASKS GERMANY TO RECONSIDER

Britain, France And U.S. In Agreement.

TO SAVE ARMS PARLEY.

Geneva, To-day.

Rt. Hon. Arthur Henderson has written a strong appeal to the German Government, urging it to reconsider its warning of withdrawal from the Disarmament Conference, as her prolonged absence may seriously affect the cause of general disarmament among the nations of the world.

American Censure.

Washington, To-day.

"The United States regret Germany's arms equality claim insofar as it may hinder world disarmament."

This view was expressed by a high official of the State Department, who, however, emphasized that the European political problems did not form a subject for the United States' consideration except so far as they had a bearing on the arms conference.

It is felt here, however, that the German Government's position is a serious one, and that the United States will be forced to take a more active part in the conference.

WORLD'S PEACE PACT SHAKEN BY JAPAN

CHINA'S CHARGES LAID BEFORE THE POWERS

DR. YEN URGES LEAGUE TO ACT

London, To-day.

Charging that Japan has violated the Nine-Power Treaty, has treated it as no better than a "scrap of paper," China has delivered a note of protest against the Tokyo policy in Manchuria to Sir John Simon, Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs. Mr. Quo Tai-chi, China's Minister to the Court of St. James, handed the note to Sir John to-day.

Other Chinese Ministers in the capitals of the nations which are signatory to the Nine-Power Treaty, delivered identical communications, all urging that action be taken to discipline Japan.

Dr. W. W. Yen.

This communication claims a serious situation has been precipitated by Japan's recognition of Manchukuo; a situation "constituting a direct violation of China's sovereignty, as well as of her territorial administrative integrity."

The note describes Japan's action in Manchuria as an attempt to establish a virtual protectorate over that part of China's territory. It says Japan has attempted to deceive the world by advancing the ridiculous argument that the so-called Manchukuo was brought into existence by Chinese citizens who desired to secede from the Chinese Republic. Undeniable facts show the bogus Government of Manchuria is a product of Japanese military aggression, pure and simple.

Hurricane Sweeps
Bahamas.

TIDAL WAVE FOLLOWS.

London, To-day.
The Secretary for Colonies, Sir Philip Cunliffe-Lister, has received a telegram from the Governor of the Bahamas reporting that a hurricane swept the Colony on September 5. High winds were experienced over a wide area, reaching an unprecedented velocity in Abaco Island where the town of Green Turtle Bay was demolished and Hope town partially destroyed.

Bluff Point and two other settlements were practically ruined. The casualties were 14 people killed and between 60 and 70 injured, including five who were drowned by a tidal wave.

The medical position is well in hand, but Government and private buildings have suffered severe damage.—British Wireless Service.

DE VALERA AVOIDS LONDON CONTACTS.

Leaves Without Call
On Cabinet.

London, To-day.
The unostentatious arrival of Mr. Eamon de Valera in London and his departure for Geneva a few hours later, called the expectation that he might prove to be a valuable link between the Irish Government and the British Government. Mr. de Valera's visit was a surprise, as he had not been expected to come to London.

NEW TRAFFIC RULE GUARDS NATHAN ROAD

Controlled Area In Operation.

20 M.P.H. SPEED LIMIT.

Owing to the prevalence of accidents in Nathan Road, particularly in the vicinity of the Majestic and Po Hing Theatres and the Chinese hotels, a new controlled area has just been brought into force. Three fatal accidents have occurred during the past few months in that vicinity, while other minor accidents happen with distressing frequency.

The new controlled area commences at the junction of Bowring Street and Nathan Road, just below Anson Road, and finishes near the Telephone Company's premises at the corner of Pitt Street and Nathan Road, thus bringing the dangerous turn into Waterloo Road within the section.

BRITISH AIR ACE CRASHES

Stainforth Injured
While Landing.

WORLD SPEED RECORD
HOLDER.

London, To-day.

Flight Lieutenant Stainforth, the famous Schneider Trophy pilot and holder of the world's speed record of 407.5 miles per hour, was injured in a flying mishap yesterday while alighting in a field at Lizard, Cornwall, where he is the guest of the well-known airman, the Master of Sempill. Stainforth's passenger also received injuries.—British Wireless Service.

F/Lt. Stainforth is the veteran of the active high speed pilots, and his amazing record established in a seaplane fitted with Rolls-Royce engines, will probably remain the sensation of the century. No human has yet travelled faster than Stainforth's 407½ m.p.h.

In the last Schneider Cup contest Italy withdrew at the last minute and thus Britain had only to supply a pilot to complete the course. F/Lt. Boothman was selected for this role while Stainforth was reserved for the attempt on Sgt. Ld. "Orkney's" world record.

It was only three weeks ago that Stainforth was involved in a plane mishap, his propeller becoming unattached in mid-air, but he received only minor injuries.

LONDON BUSMEN'S STRIKE AVERTED BY PARLEY.

Company Modified Plans For Operation.

London, To-day.

The London bus workers' strike, fixed to begin Thursday, has been averted.

The decision of the Busmen's Conference to refer the modified proposals of the General Transport Union to the arbitration board, has averted the strike. The union had demanded a 10 per cent increase in wages and a 10 per cent increase in the number of buses.

MANCHUKUO RECOGNITION URGED UPON NATIONS.

Japan Reiterates Promise of

Geneva, To-day.

The terms of the Japan-Manchukuo Protocol were distributed by the League of Nations to-day.

A statement by the Japanese delegate to the League, is sent with the protocol, and says that by the terms of the Protocol the Manchukuo Government will observe the "open door" policy. It concludes hoping "the Powers will make no delay in establishing diplomatic relations with Manchukuo." — Reuter.

OTTAWA PACTS BRING CABINET ACTION SEPT. 28

Rumours Of Liberals
Split Continue.

NO ANNOUNCEMENT YET.

London, To-day.

A meeting of the Cabinet, to begin the final consideration of legislation arising out of the Ottawa agreements, has been summoned for September 28.

Ministers now on holiday, by that time, will have returned to London and Sir John Simon will also be back from Geneva.

Meanwhile, the recent meetings of Liberal Ministers continue to give rise to speculation, particularly in the Liberal press, regarding their attitude towards the Ottawa agreements.

No official announcement on the subject is likely until after Cabinet meeting however.—British Wireless Service.

[From Our Own Correspondent.]

Shanghai, To-day.

Fresh bombing outrages occurred here daily, and but for the fact that many of the grenades fail to explode, considerable damage might have been done.

But though the damage is slight, the terror of Shanghai merchants is, in many cases, pitiable. When they receive warning letters from "secret" associations, they beg tearfully for protection and swear that they have never dealt in Japanese commodities.

Agitators masquerading as members of patriotic organizations continue their bomb throwing exploits both in the Foreign Settlement and in French Town. A Japanese shop was stoned and its windows broken and three Chinese shops were visited by bombers yesterday. But in only (Continued on Page 7.)

DAUNTLESS CAPTIVE

Tells of Miseries
Among Bandits.

BUT ASKS FOR LIPSTICK.

Captors Demand Enormous
Ransoms For Britishers.

London, To-day.

Tremendous admiration for the pluck of Mrs. Muerill Pawley, captive of Manchurian bandits, has been aroused throughout Britain by the publication in London of a letter smuggled through from the captive woman to her father in Harbin.

In this she pleads, "Please get us out of this Hell incarnate," yet simultaneously and heroically asks, "send a powder-puff and lipstick."

Mrs. Pawley's mother-in-law, interviewed by the "Daily Mail," glowingly praises her daughter-in-law's spirit, and said the publication of the smuggled letter was the first news which in any way lightened the awful burden of apprehension. It gave her reason to hope things might not be as bad as they seemed.

"What magnificent pluck! hell incarnate she calls it — yet she can ask for a lipstick," her mother-in-law added.

Mrs. Pawley's husband was also captured by the bandits when she and a third individual, Mr. Charles Corkran, were carried off. Pawley, however, escaped and brought back word of the happening.

Mrs. M. Pawley's father has received a letter signed by three of the bandits by whom she was recently captured, stating that she is being well treated in expectation of the payment of a ransom of $700. (Continued on page 18.)

Beautiful Ruins Of Fountains Abbey

Vast Monastic House Of Pilgrimage

Long ago Fountains Abbey, in Yorkshire, was described as "the crown and glory of all that monasticism has left us in England." Amidst its beautiful ruins there was a vast assemblage drawn together to celebrate at a religious service the 800th anniversary of its foundation.

For four centuries Fountains Abbey flourished as the greatest Cistercian house in England. Then came the suppression of the monasteries, and its fate was that of so many others. It was left a ruin, but a glorious ruin. Freely as the despoiler's hand was used, it could remove but a part of all this piled stone.

The remoteness of the site has been largely responsible for the preservation of what remains. Fountains Abbey stands in the grounds of Studeley Royal, but two or three miles distant from Ripon, and to-day is easily accessible. But before the era of railways and motorcars a journey into the North Riding of Yorkshire was an enterprise not lightly undertaken. The country around has always been pastoral, and there are no large centres of population.

Into The Wild

For the building of Fountains Hall, the stately Elizabethan mansion which overlooks the River Skell, the Abbots' Lodging and some other parts were pulled down by Sir Stephen Proctor, a purchaser of the confiscated property. Others also had large pickings, and times have left its scars. Still, Fountains stands unique in its stateliness and its impressive mass, and perhaps above all in its unrivalled situation. All around are steep, rocky hills, through which runs a narrow, richly wooded vale, threaded by the purling river.

Fountains Abbey owes its existence to a monastic revolt in York. Visitors to the city know the still lovely ruins of the Benedictine Abbey of St. Mary, close by the railway station.

Within the walls of St. Mary's was great discontent among the more austere of the brothers at the laxity of discipline and observance of the rule which prevailed. In the year 1132 thirteen of their number, the Prior being one, "separated themselves from the rest, as the fat is cut away from the lean"—so a monkish chronicler relates. They went out, taking nothing of the abbey's goods, save their frocks only.

Violence was threatened them. But Thurstan, the powerful Archbishop of York, refused to treat these men as deserters, and for their use he granted a farmstead, with neighbouring fields, in the wild region of Skeldale.

Assembled under an elm tree, the brothers elected Richard the Prior as their Abbot, and in the vale they raised their first church, built of wooden logs.

After some time the wandering band accepted the Cistercian rule, and "received" endowment when they were joined by Hugh, Dean of York, who brought with him a goodly store of money. The fortunes of the primitive house rapidly enlarged, and as wealth poured in the brothers removed to the site on which the Fountains Abbey we know to-day stands.

Work of Many Ages

That grand structure is the work of many ages. The great church will first engross attention, and at first sight it seems, save for being roofless, to be complete. The nave and transept are transitional Norman, and appear to have been finished by the year 1190. Long and narrow, its walls of great height, the nave is most solemn and impressive. There is no triforium. The whole design is singularly plain and unadorned, in compliance with the austerity observed by the Cistercian Order.

A change of architectural style is evident when the visitor passes the transept and enters the choir. Originally this, too, was transitional Norman, but the entire choir was enlarged and rebuilt by three successive Abbots of Fountains in the first half of the thirteenth century. To them we owe the beautiful Chapel of the Nine Altars, so called from the nine chapels within it, which is exquisite still in its roofless condition. Slender columns uphold the pointed arches that remain poised high aloft.

The tower, the most conspicuous object in Fountains Abbey when viewed from afar, was the last work to be added. It dates from the Abbey of Marmaduke Huby, 1494-1526. The position chosen is quite exceptional in the plan of conventual churches, for it occupies the extreme end of the northern transept.

Cloister Walks

Large parts of the domestic offices are still standing in solid stone, or may be traced by the foundation courses now exposed; and one is able to recover here, better than in any other ruin in England, the plan and arrangement of a large Cistercian monastery.

In the spacious refectory, covering land between the church and the River Skell, notice the niche in which one of the brothers read during meals. The adjoining vaulted kitchen is fairly complete, with buttery hatches opening into the refectory. Ranging with these is the frater, which has suffered more considerably by the despoilers. It is still easy to trace where stood the base court, the cellar, and the three prisons—for there were such places for obstinate brethren.

One may pace, too, the cloister walks whereon the monks so often passed in meditation.

The Seizure

Once the dissolution of the monasteries had become a question of policy, King Henry VIII's Commissioners at Fountains found no difficulty in formulating charges. Abbot Thirk was accused of allowing the house to decay, of wasting the woods, and permitting various faults to pass unchecked. But at the best it was a poor case, and he was allowed to resign and was given a pension. Later, for participating in the Pilgrimage of Grace, he was brought to Tyburn and there hanged.

Marmaduke Bradley, who replaced him as the last Abbot—"well learned, and a wealthier fellow"—surrendered Fountains Abbey to the King in 1539. Its possessions were so great that the lands were said to have extended "From the foot of Pennyngton to the boundaries of St. Wilfrid of Ripon, an uninterrupted space of more than 30 miles. Besides many other wide domains, the lands in Craven contain, in a ring fence, a hundred square miles, or 60,000 acres on a moderate computation."

Withal the annual income was stated at the suppression to be no more than £1,173 0s 7d—of course, a sum vastly larger than the money now represented by those figures.

Why "Fountains" Abbey? People sometimes ask. The name itself charms. It was Sancta Maria de Fontibus—Our Lady of the Springs. In the valley of the Skell many springs then rose to the surface and joined their waters with the river, as, indeed, may be seen to-day.

Assuredly the old monks had a

CARE OF THE HOME KILLS BOREDOM.

Count Your Blessings, Philosopher Says.

(By Philosopher.)

Is your bungalow a real home or is it more or less just a shelter from the rain? Why is it so many women in this country take so little interest in the running of their own house? If only they realized the joy and satisfaction there is in running things properly, seeing the servants are pulling their weight, that the house is as clean as the proverbial new pin, they would get much more out of life.

It is just as easy to be happy as it is to be bored, it all depends on the point of view one adopts. To count one's blessings is often good for the soul, and an exercise one might indulge in more often. Too much amusement and too easy a life is bad for anyone, small wonder women out East become bored so quickly.

MENU SUGGESTIONS FOR TO-MORROW.

TIFFIN:—Casseroles of vegetables, rye bread and cheese toasted sandwiches, sliced pineapple, cup cakes, milk, tea.

keen eye for a site. The setting of Fountains Abbey is perfect. There is nothing that excels it in the English landscape, and into that landscape the Abbey fits with a perfection that rarely is obtained elsewhere.

Low near the water, where the meadow is emerald green, the ruins stand out, silvery-grey in that clear atmosphere, with wooded heights and rocky ledges about them. The view as one emerges from the trees is wholly enchanting. Or one may cross the river by the picturesque mediaeval bridge, the more usual way of approach. The first impression gained is that here is something typically and essentially English—perhaps the grandest ruin that England has to show.

CONTINUOUS HEADACHES.

There are few ailments which are more distressing and lowering to the spirits and vitality than continuous nervous, neuritic or sick headaches. Strong sunlight and heat increase the distress. Relief by the use of aspirin and other drugs is only temporary and when their effect has worn off the pain returns.

Nearly every victim of chronic headache is suffering from anaemia (blood impoverishment). Anemic people's nerves are starved, their digestions are faulty, both of which can be contributory causes to the headaches.

Permanent relief can only be obtained by tonic treatment through the blood. A course of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills has proved effective in numerous cases of this kind. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills contain iron, arsenic, and purify the blood, thereby directing treatment to the root cause of the trouble.

By this unique action Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are invaluable for a wide range of diseases of the blood, and nerves, such as anaemia, stomach troubles, neuritis, nervousness, and depression, pale and sunken cheeks, and indigestion, and innumerable other ailments. MAIL REVIEW

"MAN OF MAYFAIR"—KING'S THEATRE

Jack Buchanan is perfectly delightful in the fitting role of Lord Kingland, in the musical comedy romance "Man of Mayfair" the current attraction at the King's Theatre. It is worth seeing even twice!

Buchanan, who scored heavily in "Monte Carlo" has the lead in the role of a young and wealthy "man about town" whose light-hearted love affairs cause anxiety to his serious-minded aunt, Lilian Braithwaite. In order to end his affair with Nora Swinburne, he pretends to fall for a London dancer, Joan Barry.

Buchanan's splendid acting coupled with good musical scores and comedy, make "Man of Mayfair" a very entertaining production. Elizabeth Terrell, Cyril Raymond, Sebastian Smith, Charles Quartermaine, and J. Fisher White complete the brilliant cast.

"BUT THE FLESH IS WEAK"—QUEEN'S THEATRE

Sparkling comedy, bright dialogue and brilliant performances by the cast generally, make Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's latest success an adaptation of Ivor Novello's play "The Truth Game"—now showing at the Queen's Theatre, a most enjoyable film.

Robert Montgomery, star of "Private Lives" and "Lovers Courageous", who is becoming more Anglicised in every picture, gives one of his best performances as the penniless philanthropist who schemes for a wealthy marriage and eventually wins for love. He is most amusing. His leading lady, Nora Gregor, is a novel find, while Heather Thatcher, in the role of Lady Joan Culver, is delightful. Frederick Kerr, who has appeared in many Peasage roles, is likewise, as the crusty old Duke.

The film is featured by the welcome reappearance to the talking screen of Nils Asther, after an absence of two years. He does very well in a small part. C. Aubrey Smith and Edward Everett Horton complete an ideal cast. Highly recommended!

"CAUGHT"—ORIENTAL THEATRE

Richard Arlen has the leading role in "Caught" the current attraction at the Oriental Theatre. He is seen as the head of a band of soldiers who set out to arrest an outlaw, enacted by Frances Dee in the supporting cast. Louis Dresser does some excellent work, similar to that she did in "The Goose Game".

"FLOOD"—GARDEN THEATRE

Columbia Pictures' spectacular feature, "The Flood" now playing at the Garden Theatre is crammed full with excitement, romance and drama, and has stirring scenes of confusion and devastation caused when the Mississippi river overflows.

Eleanor Boardman, Monte Blue, and David Newell head a capable cast, which includes Frank Sheridan, Ethel Wales and Arthur Hoyt. James Tinling directed.

"THEIR OWN DESIRE"—STAR THEATRE

Delightful entertainment is derived from Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's film "Their Own Desire" which is having the second local release at the Star Theatre. Robert Montgomery and Norma Shearer, in the leading roles, are a lovely pair.

Willa Lewis Stone renders fine support. Worth seeing again.

"NICE WOMEN"—CENTRAL THEATRE

"Nice Women" now playing at the Central Theatre, tells of a beautiful daughter sacrificed marry a wealthy man, in order to help her impoverished family. The acting throughout is skilful, and the characters are splendidly portrayed by Sidney Fox (her best work to date) Alan Mowbray, Russell Gleason and Frances Dee. Recommended.

occupation. The Danish Government declined, but suggested arbitration. Meanwhile Norwegian skippers had hoisted their country's flag at an inlet known as Mosquito Fiord and proclaimed the annexation of some 250 miles of coast. Their Government followed up this step by a formal occupation of the territory, and the Danes filed their claim to East Greenland before The Hague Court. On July 12 this year Norway enlarged the dispute by formally occupying and annexing another stretch of coast; the Danes contested their action, and this case has followed its predecessor to The Hague. Unfortunately for the prospects of a final settlement of the problem, the whole dispute has been complicated by the growth of a picturesque but none too practical nationalism in Norway. The Danes have been alarmed by unofficial Norwegian claims. They ask when and where these claims will end; and they fear that, whatever the verdict of The Hague Court, the Norwegian "activists" will continue their pressure. There is clearly a danger that the dispute may poison the relations between the two peoples. It might still be settled out of court by the Danish offer of a permanent leasehold in Eastern Greenland in return for a definite Norwegian statement that would allay all Danish fears.

It would be impossible to spend three months in touring the United States, studying the present economic conditions, and discussing them with many of the leading bankers and public men throughout the country, without forming some broad and general opinions, about the nature of the depression, writes Mr. H. A. McClure Smith in "Baron's," the American weekly financial paper. To record them is not to claim that they have any great value. But there is, after all, some truth in the old saying that the on-looker sees most of the game, and, in any case, there is usually a certain interest in hearing how one's own problems appear to an outsider.

The visitor from overseas has, at least, the advantage of being able to compare conditions in the various of the immense reserves of individual wealth in the country.

The United States has a long road to travel before it experiences the social distress which is common today in the industrial towns of Germany or the coal-mining areas of England and Wales. Yet neither Germany nor England have lost confidence in themselves or the future to anything like the extent that America has done. If the primary object of the Reconstruction Finance Corp. is to restore confidence to the country, it could scarcely make a better investment than to send a selected group of employers and employees to the depressed centres in Europe, in order that they might obtain a better sense of proportion in evaluating their own troubles.

countries with which he is familiar, and of realizing the international aspects of the present world-wide depression perhaps more clearly than those who are immersed in the complexities of local difficulties. The American public would not regard its own economic troubles as being so dimly black if it had a better knowledge of the sacrifices and privations which the depression has inflicted on other countries. Nor would it take so little interest in questions of tariffs and war debts if it realized more fully the extent to which the economic health of the United States depends upon that of the outside world.

Unreasoning Pessimism.

To the outside observer, indeed, the mental attitude of the American people towards their present difficulties is one of the most vital factors in the present situation. No European visitor could fail to be both surprised and alarmed at the atmosphere of dejection and fear which

Stock-Market Debacle

When panic grips a nation, cause and effect get hopelessly entangled. The real weakness which begins the panic are magnified out of all reality by it; and a vicious circle is set up which will lead the country to complete disaster unless it is broken down. This, it would seem, has happened to some extent in the United States. The collapse of American Stock Exchange prices, for instance, especially that of the past year, has transcended anything that has taken place in countries where scrap-heap valuations would be much more easily justified. It is, indeed, hard to see how the present low level of values is any more rational than the high level reached during the boom period. Its only possible justification can be the somewhat extravagant assumption that the whole fabric of American industry is irretrievably shattered.

KNIFE-MAN MUST SERVE 15 YEARS.

Brutal Attack Upon Aged Gardener.

Life-blood of industry. To the outside observer, at least, there appears to be a real danger to-day that the arteries of American economic life will run dry unless a greater flow of confidence is soon restored to them. Were they to do so, a form of economic gangrene would then inevitably set in, and the very life of

Before the Chief Justice, Sir Joseph Kemp, in the Criminal Sessions this morning, Ip Kau, charged with wounding on Hau Woon, an elderly Kowloon City gardener on the evening of July 10, was sentenced to 16 years' imprisonment.

A Comparison.

The situation would be almost humorous if it were not so tragic, since there is no apparent justification for the despondency and fear which have infected the country with this creeping economic paralysis. Even compared with past economic crises in America, the present one cannot yet be justly described as unprecedented in its desolation, compared with what has overtaken other countries it is relatively mild. So far, at least, there has been little real physical want of provisions.

The statistics of the Department of Agriculture show that there has

BLACKBURN DRAW WITH DERBY.

County Forwards Score Twice In Away Game.

London, To-day.
Blackburn Rovers yesterday secured their second point in two matches when they held the speedy Derby County forward line to a draw of three goals-all on their own ground. They have yet, however, to record their first win.

On Saturday the Rovers entertained West Bromwich Albion and shared the spoils, both sides scoring four times. Curiously enough Derby also drew on Saturday when they were hosts to Birmingham—Renter.

JACKIE BROWN WINS ON FOUL.

Mahrag Disqualified In Eighth Round.

Manchester, To-day.
Jackie Brown successfully defended his British Flyweight Boxing title against Jim Mahrag, of Glasgow, last night. The Scotsman was disqualified in the eighth round for hitting low—Renter.

Mahrag was expected to beat Brown, but his impetuosity cost him the title he has been qualifying for the last four years. In Scotland he was a warm favourite, but in England Brown's much greater experience was taken more into consideration. Brown's technique was acquired after an extensive tour of the United States, and he has no equal in the British Isles at the moment.

Joyce Wethered Tells Secrets of Putting in Golf

TOO much trouble cannot be taken in learning the putting stroke. Good putting is far and away the most effective form of attack in the golfer's game.

Unless a certain amount of success is to be depended on when we reach the green, our previous efforts will very rarely make up for our expensive failures in getting the ball into the hole.

It is unfortunately true that three bad shots and a good putt will make up a par four, while two good shots followed by three putts will lose the same hole in a match. The moral is obvious.

ESPECIALLY in these modern days, when the ball goes so much further, reducing the advantage of the long shot, and when the greens are so perfectly kept, close matches are generally decided by the strokes on the putting green.

It therefore happens that so large a premium is placed on the successful putt that if we are wise, we shall leave no chances to haphazard methods, but do all in our power to develop a sound style which will enable us to rely on our putter to convert when accuracy is urgently needed.

The first step is to make the head of the putter travel in a recognised groove until the movement becomes as far as possible mechanical. Then the strength and line of the putt can remain unimpaired in the player's mind.

THE most important moment of the swing is when the blade of the club is in contact with the ball. Two points are particularly important at this moment.

First, the club must be perfectly balanced. The weight must be evenly distributed, and the club must be perfectly straight.

Second, the club must be perfectly balanced. The weight must be evenly distributed, and the club must be perfectly straight.

JACK HOBBS IN OVAL SCENE

Full Details Of The Incident.

BOWES JUSTIFIES METHODS

London, Aug. 22.

There was an incident at Kensington Oval on Saturday which has caused considerable controversy during the week-end.

The players concerned were Jack Hobbs, the Surrey and All-England batsman, and Bowes, the Yorkshire bowler who has been selected to tour Australia and it is interesting to give the views of both players as to what happened.

Bowes, who is a fast-medium bowler, had been delivering an occasional "rebound" ball to Hobbs, who eventually protested against one which fell just short of the stumps. His method of protest was to walk almost the length of the pitch and smash down the turf, only a few yards out of the bowling crease, with his bat.

The next ball sent down was of the same kind, and Hobbs repeated his action. He also complained to Bowes during an interval that he was bowling "dangerously," and might cause some hurt which he would always regret.

Surprising The Batmen.

Discussing the incident with me yesterday, Bowes said: "The matter is a technical one. If you grant that a fast bowler is a shock bowler, then his shortish ball is just as much a legitimate variation as the faster one sent down by a slow or medium bowler."

"I do not regard myself as a fast bowler at any, the fast-right type, but the short ball has been used by every fast bowler of the past. The fast bowler has to use his brains as well as his arm."

"Of course, if he bowled to other kind than the short ball he would be a bad bowler. So would he be if he constantly kept what is called a good length and never gave the batsman a surprise."

"That is merely playing the batsman's game, and the batsman would refuse to make any shots at all."

Hobbs' Statement.

The other members of the Yorkshire team, I believe, strongly re-

MAURICE TATE FOR AUSTRALIA.

Almost Fit After Breakdown.

It has been officially announced that Maurice Tate has successfully passed his medical examination, and has been pronounced "almost fit."

He will report at Lord's on Wednesday for his passport in order to catch his train on Thursday morning to join the M.C.C. side at Toulon or Naples—Renter. While packing his luggage for the trip to Australia Tate had a complete nervous breakdown which caused the selectors no small amount of anxiety in view of his previous breakdown in health. He was unable to embark with the remaining members of the touring party on the Orient on Saturday.

It is hoped that Tate will join the side at Toulon, and the Nawab of Pataudi will make up the party at Ceylon.

BOXING

HEAVYWEIGHT BOUT POSTPONED.

Mickey Walker Has Boil On Arm.

New York, To-day.

The heavyweight boxing fight between Max Schmeling, former world champion, and Mickey Walker, former middleweight champion, has been postponed until Monday, September 26 on account of a boil on Walker's arm.

Walker is one of the pluckiest boxers in America at the present time, but it is opined in official circles that he will prove no match for the rugged German. Walker has, however, fought a draw with Schmeling before the latter won his title. Schmeling, it will be recalled, lost his heavyweight crown to Sharkey on a very doubtful points decision, and he is now smarting for revenge.

AMERICANS WIN AT YACHTING.

Seawanhaka Cup.

London, Aug. 22.

The American 8-metre yacht Jill beat the Scottish defender Maids in the third race for the Seawanhaka Cup on the Clyde on Saturday, and so won the trophy. At the conclusion of Saturday's race the crews of the two boats were hailed aboard the flagship Majestic, and on the quarter deck the cup was formally handed over to the Americans by Mr. F. J. Stephen, Commodore of the Royal Northern Yacht Club, who were the holders of the trophy.

The official finishing times were:—

	H. M. S.
Jill (winner)	5 12 47
Maids	5 17 4

Jackie Hobbs' action in walking down the pitch, Hobbs, however, feels that he was justified in making a moral protest.

"Perhaps I made a mistake, especially from their point of view," he said to me. "In walking down the pitch, but, after all, it was done more in a humorous spirit than anything else. The first thought that occurs to me on what Bowes has stated, is that slightly humorous—that it was my brains he was nearly using."

Seriously, though, somebody will be killed one of these days by a bowler's ball from some fast bowler, and then the practice will be stopped. Such a tragedy is bound to happen sooner or later.

Hobbs declares that he got the impression that he was not bowling "dangerously," and was actually bowling "legally."

COTTON AND GOLF SELECTORS.

Omission From England Team.

"I HAVE BEEN DROPPED."

(By George Greenwood.)

London, Aug. 17.
Surprise is expressed in the world of golf by the omission of T. H. Cotton's name from the England team to meet Ireland next Monday at Cork.

Cotton has not been invited; neither was he asked to play in the recent match between amateurs and professionals, when his absence caused general comment.

Misunderstandings between Cotton and the Professional Golfers' Association began last year, when he was omitted from the British Ryder Cup team because he declined to accept certain conditions.

When invited to play for England against Scotland, this year Cotton refused, on the ground that by playing in the international his chances for the championship would be jeopardised.

The view taken by the Association is that it is in the position of a host whose invitations to the same guest have twice been declined. In order to preserve its dignity, a third invitation is not issued.

The Association, in an official letter, has expressed "displeasure" at Cotton's conduct, adding that while prepared to accept the privileges which membership of the Association conferred, he was not prepared to accept its obligations and responsibilities.

Ryder Cup Interests.

In view of next year's Ryder Cup match, to be played in this country, Cotton's position is not unimportant to British interests.

"I hope by then that everything will be different," a prominent member of the Association told me, "but if not, we shall have no hesitation in dropping him, though we do not want to do so."

"When I saw Cotton he said: 'My reason for declining the invitation to play against Scotland was solely on the ground of fitness.'"

On the question of his omission from the team, Cotton said, "I cannot help feeling that I have been definitely dropped. I could understand it if it were done to give the young players a chance, but this is, apparently, not the case."

"And what about the Ryder Cup match?" I asked.

"They say, of course, drop me from that as well, but I am hoping for a change of atmosphere," replied Cotton.

DAZZLING TENNIS AT SOOKUNPOO

ANDREWS VINDICATES BIG REPUTATION

TERRIFIC PACE THROUGHOUT

RUMJAHN COUSINS LOSE FIRST TWO SETS BUT WIN THIRD.

E. D. Andrews, the New Zealand and British International lawn tennis player, fulfilled all expectations when seen in yesterday's exhibition matches at the Indian Recreation Club. Last time he was in the Colony he proved very disappointing and he took the opportunity yesterday of redeeming his big reputation. It might well have been said that he carried E. C. Fincher to lead the Rumjahn cousins by 2 sets to 1.

Glorious driving on both hands, coupled with devastating smashes and a tricky American spin service, played havoc with the Rumjahns. They had not encountered such a speedy opponent for a good many years, and their usual accuracy deserted them entirely in the first two sets. Even the agile Sirdar was left standing with many of Andrews' beautifully placed returns. Fincher played unconvincingly, and his display suggested staleness after his recent games in the K.C.C. tournament. H. D. was not up to his usual game, but his steadiness was largely responsible for the local champions snatching the third set from a tired Andrews.

The doubles match between Andrews and Fincher and the Rumjahn cousins, local doubles champions since 1925, was scheduled to commence at 4.30 p.m., but it was nearer 5.15 p.m. when the five set match was commenced, owing to the late arrival of H. D. Rumjahn.

There was a very small crowd present considering the importance of the occasion, most of the spectators present being members of the Indian Recreation Club. It is not often that so prominent a player as Andrews passes through the Colony, and it is to be hoped that the gallery will be considerably augmented when he takes the courts at the H.K.C.C. to-morrow. He is undoubtedly the finest player to be seen on local courts since the memorable visit of Henri Cochet in 1929, including as it does the recent visit of Jiro Satoh, the Japanese ace.

SERVICE GAMES LOST.

The court was a little on the soft side and both Andrews and Fincher seemed to find the light very trying in the first three or four games. Curiously enough all four players lost their service games in the first four games, and it was left to Andrews to take the lead at 3-2, only for H. D. to level the scores. Fincher won his service to take the score to 4-3 and with Sirdar dropping his service Andrews and Fincher went out at 6-3.

Fincher was seldom seen at his best, being outpositioned time and again. In his first service game he served no fewer than three double faults. To Andrews must go all credit for the first set. His volleying was an eye-opener to the beginner. He never chose the easiest method of returning the ball, but was always seeking the opening for a smash. His angle volleying did not always succeed, but that might well be attributed to the light peculiar to the Sookunpoo ground. His ground strokes were well executed and a flashing back-hand shot down the side-lines was delightfully demonstrated. The Rumjahns soon learned that he possessed the most aggressive top-spin forehand drive but were powerless to check it owing to his remarkably well-judged placements.

GREAT RECOVERIES.

The second set proved an easy victory for the first time. Fincher's displaying of his proved form to lead the Rumjahns to a 2-1 victory. The Cambridge Blues struck his true form in this set and played dazzling tennis as the result. He was fast on the court and one or two of his recoveries were reminiscent of the manner at 4.30 p.m., but it was nearer 5.15 p.m. when the five set match was commenced, owing to the late arrival of H. D. Rumjahn.

There was a very small crowd present considering the importance of the occasion, most of the spectators present being members of the Indian Recreation Club. It is not often that so prominent a player as Andrews passes through the Colony, and it is to be hoped that the gallery will be considerably augmented when he takes the courts at the H.K.C.C. to-morrow. He is undoubtedly the finest player to be seen on local courts since the memorable visit of Henri Cochet in 1929, including as it does the recent visit of Jiro Satoh, the Japanese ace.

RADIO WELL HELD BY R.A.S.C.

Mamak Champions Only Score Three Times.

MULE CORPS WIN.

In a friendly hockey match played between the Radio Sports Club and the R.A.S.C. on the former's ground at Caroline Hill yesterday the Radio defeated the R.A.S.C. by three clear goals.

In the first half, the Radio were leading by two goals, Gurbachan Singh and Awtar Singh each scoring once.

After the interval, the exchanges were very fast and the match was very evenly contested. A few minutes after the interval G. Singh, the Radio's centre forward, taking advantage of a good pass from the right wing made no mistake with his parting shot.

Awtar, G. Singh and Kalwant Singh were combining to a nicely only the fine goal-keeping of the R.A.S.C. goalie keeping the scoring down. He effected many daring and difficult clearances.

Hanib played a good game at centre half feeding his forwards with good understanding.

MULE CORPS WIN.

In a friendly match on the Railway ground, the Indian Mule Corps comfortably defeated the Royal Army Ordnance Corps yesterday by six goals to two. The Indian team was assisted by their commanding officer, Capt. H. Eve and C. C. Francis.

During the first half the Indian team scored four goals to their opponents' one, but after the change over the Ordnance Corps showed better understanding and they reduced the lead to 4-2, but failed to hold their opponents who netted twice before the final whistle.

OMAR AGAIN LEADS TEAM TO VICTORY

SPLENDID PLAY ON LAST END; TURNS TABLES

J. C. BROWN'S DISTINCTION

LOCAL SIDE LOSE TO COUNTRY CLUB IN FRIENDLY GAME.

SHANGHAI TO-DAY.
HONG KONG DEFEATED SHANGHAI YESTERDAY BY 21 SHOTS TO 20 IN THE 2ND GAME OF THE INTERPORT SERIES, THUS REGISTERING THEIR SECOND WIN IN THE SERIES OF EIGHT MATCHES PLAYED ON SHANGHAI SOIL. J. C. BROWN WAS A MEMBER OF THE 1928 TEAM TO VISIT SHANGHAI—THE FIRST VISITING SIDE TO CAPTURE THE LOCAL FLAG—AND HE WAS PROMINENT IN YESTERDAY'S WINNING RINK.

TO U. M. OMAR MUST GO ALL CREDIT FOR THE HONG KONG TRIUMPH AS HIS BRILLIANCE AND TACTICAL SCHEMING ACHIEVED A GREAT DEAL IN UNDERMINING THE PLAY OF THE LOCAL BOWLERS. YESTERDAY HE GAVE HONG KONG A LAST-MINUTE VICTORY AS IN THE CASE OF SUNDAY'S GAME.

The third and last game in the Interport series will be staged on the Shanghai Lawn Bowls Club green on Thursday, and the team will leave the northern port on Monday.

In a friendly rink game against the Shanghai Country Club, the visitors were beaten by 17 shots to 14. A return match has, however, been arranged and it is expected that the Hong Kong side will avenge themselves handsomely. The visitors were represented by R. S. Nichol, H. Hampton, A. O. Brawn (President of the H.K.L.B.A. and manager of the visiting side) and B. W. Bradbury (skip). The Shanghai players were F. G. Harrison, E. B. Heaton Smith, V. H. Lanning and C. W. Porter (skip).

RESULTS OF VISIT.

The following have been the results of the games played by the Hong Kong team during their present visit to Shanghai:

	Shots.	F. A.
v. Lusitano Club	32—8
v. Lawn Bowls Club	23—16
v. West Zone	18—13
v. SHANGHAI	17—16
v. Shanghai Country Club	14—17
v. SHANGHAI	21—20
	125—90

In the same way as they had snatched victory on Sunday, the Hong Kong bowlers team yesterday won the second game in the interport contest from Shanghai, thus securing the rubber.

Hong Kong won the match by one shot at the last end—21 to 20—after one of the finest games ever seen in Shanghai. Omar again won the match, giving the spectators thrill after thrill with brilliant shots.

There was a large crowd at the Wayside Park and the green was splendid but the sun bothered the players.

Omar's driving shots were very deadly and he took care that when his men had their shots that they guarded, while Shanghai lost mainly through not guarding.

In the first three quarters of the game, Shanghai was outplayed. At the fourth end the score was 19/8 in favour of Hong Kong and from the eighth to the fourteenth Shanghai had not scored. Then, from the fourteenth they took the next five with a single, two fours, a three and a two, making the score 20/18 in favour of Shanghai.

At the twentieth Hong Kong scored two, making the tally 20 all. At the last end Ratt, with his second got a lucky wick to lay his shot and the game looked won for Shanghai, but Omar came up with a fast one, carrying the ball to the ditch and laying his shot.

This was loudly cheered. Dunlop was short with his first, while the second went into the ditch and the game was lost.

The following were the teams:—
Hong Kong. Shanghai.
R. S. Nichols C. M. Sequeira
B. W. Bradbury A. McGregor
J. C. Brown N. Harrison
